NORMAL NOTES.

The first annual Gymnastic Exhibition which took place on Monday evening, was a pronounced success from start to finish. The hall was well filled with an appreciative audience, and the various parts assigned the students were rendered with the precision of clock work. The music, always a pleasing and enlivening feature were amusement is sought, was rendered in such a manner by the Normal orchestra as to nicely fill all intermission. The Grand March in which 200 student participated afforded opportunity to see them in drill uniform. But the similarity was confined entirely to the uniform, which was quite neat and appropriate both for male and female participants. To note the ever changing style of bearing and facial expression as the students passed in review, was to the writer quite as entertaining as the lively ball throwing at the close of the exercises, which was certainly the most exciting part of the program. Ball games being in no wise free from danger makes such lively scrambling the more attractive to many no doubt. The following is the program as rendered without comment upon individual participants:

Basket Ball.....Normal vs. Bloomsburg

Because she was scolded for stealing a penny, little Miss Emma Mark dropped herself into the Delaware river and perished. Whether it was the little theft or the thought of it that actuated the child, no one can determine. Judas Iscariot, who committed suicide for his meanness, which he fully recognized, was a gentleman and a christian compared with some professors we know who will never die till they meet a natural death, and then their chances will be nowhere compared with those of Judas Iscariot.

We will only remark incidentally that when basket-ball players contrive to hang on and hug each other at one end of the room when the ball is in the other, it looks to one unacquainted with the game considerably more like fight than fun. Just about another such a spirited game as that played at the Normal Gymnasium last Monday night and we should not be surprised to see some fun among the players that is not down on the program. Such games, though attractive, are always played at more or less risk.

We are convinced that organized labor quite as frequently invites distress through unreasonable strikes for higher wages, as that capital deliberately inflicts distress upon wage-earners through personal greed. Bricklayers, for instance, who are getting $3.50 per day in these times and yet striking themselves out of work because they are refused $4 per day, illustrates the point.

Edison now proposes to grease ships for rapid navigation through the water just the same as you would grease and thereby benefit a hard pulling and squeaking wagon. It looks sleek enough at first glance, but whether the lubricating material would stand the swash of the briny deep, is a question.

Last Sunday's storm was quite a fierce blow that was accompanied with more or less hail. No doubt it did considerable damage that was not reported, as well as considerable that we saw and heard of.

The ringing of the court house bell this week reminds us of the tribulations of this life. The number of cases coming on for trial this session is somewhat larger than usual we are informed.

It would seem that the Reading Railroad is a financial wreck, if it be true that its liabilities are in the neighborhood of $100,000,000 in excess of its assets.

You miss a great saving of money if you don't visit Lowenberg's on Saturday. Goods will be sold at lower prices than other merchants pay for them.

Neiswinter Brothers, of Ohio, will sell at Nanticoke, on the 17th inst., one car load of horses, through J. S. Williams auctioneer.

PURE WATER.

We lived once in a city where the Dutch seemed to get control or on the blind side of the law-making power, and with an eye to business, beer-making, the innocent pumps of the city, which seemed to be a perpetual eyesore and hinderance to the down-flow of beer, were filled up. With hearts full of sympathy for reckless water-drinkers, and full themselves to the neck with the effervescing properties of beer, the thing to be done was to do away with the pump nuisance in order to preserve the health of the more reckless who would actually drink water in summer time in preference to beer, swallowing the imperceptible microbes and animalculi at every gulp with the indifference of so many monomaniacs bent upon keeping sober.

It was charged by the Dutch that surface drainage filtered into wells 40 feet deep, whether cemented or not, and whether the streets were macadamized or not. And though the well-water was actually the purest in the city, the wells were punctually filled up by regal order and royal command in the interest of those selling beer and soda water. Only this and nothing more. As for the water furnished from reservoirs, the only source of supply after the wells were filled up, an epicure could never tell which it tasted most of as between decaying fish or imprisoned frogs and tadpoles. Right next to pure morals we say give us pure water. Nothing more justifies the use of intoxicants than impure water, and the Dutch know it, and so ought Americans.

NOT ALL THE SAME KIND.

EDITOR OF THE COLUMBIAN:

The article that appeared in the Bloomsburg Daily last Monday in regard to the colored element of this place, it is very true that there is a lowly, degraded set of colored people in this place that makes it hard for a better class that tries to take a step higher in this world toward progress. Now, the class that participated in that ungodly affair Friday night is among the lowest. Wake up you brethren and sisters, and make men and women out of yourselves. It isn't the color that makes the person; it is Principle. Don't get trashy because you are black.

A RESPECTABLE COLORED MAN.

K. L. C. E. CONVENTION.

The Ministerial, Sunday-school and K. L. C. E. Convention of Lewisburg district, Cent. Pa. Conf., Evangelical Association, will be held in the Bloomsburg Evangelical Church, May 15th, 16th and 17th. A full programme covering local church work is prepared for the occasion. Ministers from Lycoming, Sullivan, Wyoming, Susquehanna, Lackawanna, Luzerne, Columbia, Montour, and Northumberland counties will attend the convention, and delegates from some of these counties will be present.

ROPE JUMPING.

We published a short time ago a case of death resulting from rope-jumping 132 times by Miss Henrietta Purcel, of New Jersey. For the benefit of little girls given to this habit for want of better exercise we mention another case, that of Miss Dora Frankell, of Pottstown, who jumped the rope 200 times and fell exhausted. Permanent disability the doctors say, will be the result in this case.

THE BAND.

The Bloomsburg Band gave the citizens quite a serenade on Tuesday evening, from the gallery or veranda of the court house. The pavements were thronged with eager listeners and the music was of the kind well calculated to entertain.

And now the big property is in jeopardy as well as the smaller estates. At Mahanoy City, on the 3d inst., the Sheriff seized a big colliery owned by the Primrose Coal Company, on a confessed judgment in favor of the Delano Land Co. for $52,000. The colliery employed 500 men and boys.

As a business enterprise, agricultural fairs are not thrifty these days, it seems. While Benton has already announced a determination to have no fair this year, both the charter and effects of the Luzerne County Agricultural Society have been sold recently by the sheriff for $15.

Almost anybody can see the propriety of the "good roads" feature of Coxey's urgent demand from our statesmen in Congress assembled. When roads are bad it is difficult for commonwealers to get along very fast. Let us have good roads by all means.

Rev. John Hewitt spent last Sunday and Monday in town as the guest of Col. Freeze. On Sunday he made a brief address in St. Paul's Church in the morning, and preached in the evening. Large congregations were present at both services. Mr. Hewitt came here in 1870 as Rector of St. Paul's Church, and remained until 1875, and was Principal of the Normal School from 1871 to 1873. He is now rector of a large parish at Lincoln, Nebraska, and is Principal of a school there. His business in the east was to obtain $30,000 for the school on a mortgage on the property.

A large number of copies of "The Magic City" are being sold in Bloomsburg, and some have been sent out by mail to subscribers through the county, but not nearly so many of the latter as there should be. It may be that the trouble of cutting out the coupon, and sending ten cents by mail has deterred some from ordering the work. To such we say that they can get the portfolios at this office at any time when they are in town, as they want them, one or more at a time. Don't miss this opportunity. Regular subscribers need not bring the coupons. Those who are not subscribers must either become such, or buy a paper containing the coupon. Numbers 9 and 10 are ready this week.

Some boy's who were playing ball on Main street by the Episcopal Church, knocked the ball through one of the stained glass windows. This kind of amusement on Main street ought to be prohibited.

COXEYISM AND M'KINLEYISM.

The Secretary of the American Protective Tariff League writes to the World protesting against the League's being held responsible in any wise for the Coxeyite "armies." It is probable that we were mistaken in naming the League as the specific source from which the Coxeyites were receiving aid. Nevertheless, a week ago there were unmistakable signs that the Protectionists were lending the movement aid and encouragement of a substantial character; just as there are signs now that they dropped it when public attention was called to the earmarks of partisan manipulation.

And in spite of protests and disclaimers nothing is more obvious than that McKinleyism and Coxeyism stand in the relation of cause and effect.

For twenty years the Protectionists have taught by speeches in Congress and on the stump and through their party press that when anything goes wrong with business, or even with any particular industry, Congress should be called upon to set things right. Their doctrine, put forward on all occasions, has been and is that laws make prosperity or bring disaster, and that the remedy for industrial disasters is more laws or changed laws.

In what does this differ from Coxeyism? The Coxeyites are in distress. They claim to be willing to work but unable to obtain work, and to represent millions who are suffering privation by reason of this condition of things. They follow the teachings they have heard for years and turn to Washington for help. They ask Congress to pass laws which they claim will bring relief.

Even their plan of presenting "a petition in boots" is borrowed from the McKinleyites. How many times during the last dozen or twenty years have the Capitol and Washington swarmed with people who had gone there to ask Congress to pass laws or to levy taxes for their special benefit? How long is it since the Protectionist spellbinders and newspapers were shrieking in chorus because the Democrats of House and Senate refused to give "hearings" to bands of people from all parts of the country who insisted upon telling Congress what kind of laws and taxes they wanted for their own benefit? Is it a month since Mrs. J. Ellen Foster carried a throng of Rhode Island factory girls to Washington and chased Senators around the committee rooms with her "petition in boots?"

Does the fact that the McKinleyites had the money (or had it put up for them) to go to Washington in passenger coaches give them any rights not possessed by the Coxeyites, who for lack of money must walk or steal rides on freight trains?

The plain truth is that Coxeyism is simply McKinleyism reduced to an absurdity by being carried to its logical conclusion. And though a burlesque in its present phase it will have one good effect. We shall hear less hereafter of Congress and Congress-made laws as the remedy for industrial troubles and trade depression. We shall see an end made of those "petitions in boots" which the palace car Coxeyites have been thrusting upon Congress year in and year out. We shall see the honest American doctrine of self-help put in practice more and more.

Blindly and unconsciously, with but a nebulous idea of what he is doing, the grotesque Coxey is a great reformer. His absurd "army" will be turned into a circus side show at 25 cents admission and then melt away into the police stations, almshouses and casual freight trains. But he has taught a lesson that will not be forgotten. He has opened our eyes to the extent to which our social structure has been undermined. He has set men to thinking, and as the first and surest result of that thinking a halt will be called upon that form of State Socialism known as McKinleyism.—N. Y. World.

THE PULLMAN PALACE CAR.

Some time ago Mr. Pullman, the millionaire, of palace car fame, was led to remark that he was happier when so poor that he had not a dollar in his pocket than he now is as the possessor of $50,000,000. The following may throw some light on this unique conclusion. We found it in the Harrisburg Patriot:

The impositions practiced upon a patient traveling public by "the Pullman palace car company" are so frequent and so flagrant that a shout of rejoicing runs all along the line when any one with sufficient persistence and courage carries through the courts to a successful ending a prosecution to recover for wrongs and indignities.

A late decision by the supreme court in this connection is especially pleasing. Mrs. Jennie Campbell, of Sioux City, Iowa, was a passenger on a Pullman palace car on one of the Iowa roads five years ago, and being alone in the car at night was awakened in her berth by the porter, who attempted assault. She fled from her berth and took refuge in the toilet-room, where she remained a prisoner until the train stopped at a station and the conductor was attracted by her cries. The shock seriously affected her health as well as her peace of mind, and she brought suit against the Pullman company in the United States court for the northern district of Iowa. Judgment was rendered against the company and Mrs. Campbell was awarded $10,000 damages. An appeal was taken by the Pullman car company to the supreme court of the United States, and last Monday the judgment of the lower court was affirmed. The defendant company, under the decision rendered, will also be obliged to pay the costs of the litigation and the interest on the judgment rendered nearly five years ago, in addition to the principal.

This affirmatively settles a grave question long mooted by the Pullman company, namely, its responsibility for injuries or indignities imposed upon its patrons by its employees. But it does not dispose of the hundreds of minor annoyances—classifying them mildly—to which the patrons of that company are daily subjected, some of which the Patriot has more than once had occasion to point out. Many of these impositions might well be regulated by local legislation and in the present mood of the public the member who would introduce in our legislature and carry to passage a measure embodying needed reliefs would receive the plaudits of a grateful people to a remarkable extent. To aid any fearless member in this respect during the approaching legislative session shall be the pleasure of the Patriot and the wrongs of this corporate monopoly that most need early regulation and remedy will be duly pointed out in these columns in order that public opinion and the legislative mind may be concentrated thereon.

BE ON THE WATCH, SAYS HICKS.

Here is Hicks on May weather: The month opens at the end of April's closing storm period, with storm disturbances disappearing in extreme eastern parts of the country, and cooler weather prevailing in central and western sections. An equinox of Mercury is central on the 3d, and will cause cloudiness and tendency to continued drizzle. In the extreme north sleet need not prove a surprise. By the 4th decided change to warmer will develop in the west, and during the 5th to 7th reactionary storms will pass over the country, being central about the time of new moon on the 5th. A sharp change to cooler will follow the disturbances at this time, with strong probabilities of frost along the northern side of the country from about 7th to 10th

From 10th to 14th is the next regular period of change and storm. A very warm wave is apt to appear by the 11th in western regions, and during the three days next following storms of much energy and wide scope will traverse the country from west to east. Another very cool wave for the season will come in behind the storms, causing several days of much cooler weather in the country generally. Heavy rains may reasonably be expected during the last-named disturbances, namely, about the 11th, 12th and 13th, during which time a series of daily storms recurring near the same time of day, or night, for several days need not be unlooked for. Watch barometers, temperature and direction of wind; if barometer fails to rise after one storm passes, with wind still in east and south, expect another storm from the west, and so on until conditions change.

The cool weather following the storms of the last period will give place to warmer, and secondary storms will appear in many places about the 17th and 18th, immediately after which the barometer will rise rapidly to a very high reading, attended by a sharp change to cooler.

From 21st to 25th fails the next storm period, during which time it will grow very warm, and many storms of rain, thunder and wind will appear. In all these disturbances the intelligent use of the barometer and correct observation of wind currents will foreshadow with much certainty the coming and the intensity of storms. About the 27th and 28th will be central the last disturbances for May, bringing fair and cooler days and nights for the closing month.

The usual treatment of catarrh is very unsatisfactory, as thousands can testify. Proper local treatment is positively necessary to success, but many, if not most, of the remedies in general use afford but temporary relief. A cure certainly cannot be expected from snuffs, powders, douches and washes. Ely's Cream Balm, which is so highly commended, is a remedy which combines the important requisites of quick action, specific curative power, with perfect safety and pleasantness to the patient. The druggists all sell it.

It begins to look as though Coxey's army may succumb to rum, rheumatism and rebellion.—St. Joseph Herald.

NO COMPROMISE ON THE INCOME TAX.

The "leading Democratic Senator" who is willing to compromise with the enemies of any income tax by lowering the limit on taxable incomes to $2,000 or $1,200 and lowering the rate of taxation to 1 per cent. or one-half per cent. is a mischief maker. The proposition is a treacherous one

The effect of such a change would be to make the measure unpopular by taxing those who ought not to be taxed. Undoubtedly this is the purpose.

Instead of lowering the limit of exemption it should be raised from $4,000 to $5,000. The tax on incomes between $5,000 and $10,000 should be light, but the rate should increase gradually with every additional $10,000. This is the kind of bill The World has advocated. Such a bill would be just, popular and efficient to raise revenue.

Those who represent that the income tax now in the Wilson bill is an element of weakness discover either great ignorance of public opinion or great impudence in falsehood. Two or three facts will show what the truth is.

Congressman COOMBS, of Brooklyn, opposed the income-tax feature of the Wilson bill supposing that he was representing the wishes of his constituents, but when he returned home he discovered that while his efforts in behalf of the bill generally were appreciated and made matter of express congratulation, compliments for his course in opposing the income-tax feature were few indeed. The action for which he expected to be most praised was generally disapproved. He went back to Washington a wiser man.

Senator HALE, of Maine, was opposed to the income tax officially as a partisan duty. But he went down to Maine for a little vacation and found out that this tax was so popular there among Republicans as well as Democrats that since his return to Washington he has been reckoned a doubtful opponent of it.

A prominent member of the Consolidated Stock Exchange in this city stated within a week his great surprise at discovering upon a careful informal inquiry that every Democratic member favored the tax and half the Republicans also.—N. Y. World.

IN CONGRESS.

The Trials and Tribulations of Coxey and His Work-Escapers.

About $1,000,000 Saved on Fraudulent and Illegal Pensions in a Year.

LOBBYISTS STILL AT WORK.

Falsity of Republican Prophecy—Prospects of Democratic Harmony.

From our Regular Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, May 4.—President Cleveland and his Cabinet are pursuing the even tenor of their official duties just as though there was no such thing in existence as Coxey's army. The President has promised to attend the unveiling of the Martha Washington monument at Fredericksburg, Virginia, on the 10th inst., and to morrow Secretary Herbert will leave for the Pacific coast to inspect the Government Navy Yards in that section.

Coxey's march upon the Capitol was one of the most farcical fizzles of the age. To day he and Carl Brown and Christopher Columbus Jones are being tried in the police court for violating the law in attempting to make speeches from the steps of the Capitol. They are not likely to be severely punished—probably small fines as a warning. If the foolish men now on their way to Washington to join Coxey could get within smelling distance of the pest-hole in which the poor Coxeyites are confined—Coxey says camped—they would turn back at once. Inasmuch as Coxey was told by the Health officer of the danger attendant upon putting those poor devils in a marsh partially filled with dumpings of city filth, with an open sewer on one side, and stagnant green scummed cesspools on the other, and the foul atmosphere thoroughly impregnated with malarial germs, it looks as though he would be glad to gain a little additional notoriety by having a lot of them die like dogs. Nearly all of the four hundred men now there are half sick from exposure and lack of proper food, and daily inspections by the Health officials is followed by the ambulance carrying some of them to the hospitals. Coxey, being comfortably quartered at a hotel, says he intends to keep these men here until they are joined by several hundred thousand; but he won't. Those who don't get sick will desert; every day some of them get arrested for begging in the streets and are sent down as vagrants.

In addition to recovering $27,513.24 paid on fraudulent or illegal pensions, the Democratic management of the Pension Bureau has saved the Government in the neighborhood of a million dollars during the last twelve months by the discovery of frauds and the stopping of accrued payment on them. That is just the sort of thing that the people have a right to expect from the Democratic management of every branch of the Government.

They would doubtless resent being called lobbyists, but there can be no doubt that the work upon which the gentlemen who are here representing the various parties interested in Pacific Railroads legislation, now being considered by House and Senate committees, are engaged in is lobbying pure and simple. Each and every one of them is after legislation that will protect the interest he represents, regardless of the interests of the Government.

The Republicans in Congress are not doing much talking this week about the special election Tuesday in the third Ohio Congressional district, at which the Democrats elected Paul J. Sorg to Congress by a substantial majority, although a week ago they were boasting that the district would go Republican as a protest against tariff reform. It seems that the Democrats of that district are like those of all the other districts—they want tariff reform, and the Democratic Senators cannot give it to them any too soon.

The Republicans are as quarrelsome and spiteful as a lot of setting hens these days, and all because the Democratic Senators do not see fit to take them into their confidence as to the nature of the proposed amendments to the tariff bill. With the exception of the day that the Senate adjourned immediately after assembling, because of the death of Senator Stockbridge, of Michigan, there has not been a session of the Senate for a week at which the Republicans have not attempted to provoke the Democrats into a row. To the credit of the Democrats, be it said they have, as a rule, kept their tempers, allowing the Republicans to make a lot of ridiculous statements about something that they knew absolutely nothing about—the intentions of the Democrats. The favorite misstatement seems to be that a new tariff bill is being prepared. Although denied when first made, by Senators Voorhees and Harris, it has since been reiterated by half a dozen Republican Senators. The Democratic Senators will, in due time, announce the amendments to the tariff bill, which will be supported by the Finance Committee, and they will pass them, too; also the bill. The object of the Republicans is to create dissension among the Democrats, but it will not succeed. The Democrats are to day nearer together than they have been during the session, and will remain so.

AN ACCOMMODATING LION.

An athlete one vacation
Met a lion in privation
On a desert where the lion food was rare.
The lion was delighted
That the athlete he had sighted,
But the athlete wished that he had been elsewhere.

The athlete dared not fight him,
And he recalled an item
That was published in some journal he had read
Of a lion that retreated,
Disheartened and defeated,
When an unarmed hunter stood upon his head.

On this hint from print extracted
The athlete promptly acted
And brandished both his shoe heels high in air.
Upon his feat amazing
The lion sat a-gazing
And studied the phenomenon with care.

Said the lion: "This position
Is quite against tradition,
But I'll gladly eat you any way you choose.
Inverted perpendicular
Will do. I'm not particular!"
He finished him, beginning with his shoes.

Curious Epitaphs.

A woman was left to support a family of little nieces and nephews, whose mother had died leaving them helpless. She did it by canning fruit, at which she was an expert. When she died the following epitaph appeared on her gravestone:

"Here lies our beloved aunt,
She used to can, but now she can't."

Another curious epitaph is found in the cemetery in Lockport, N. Y., on the monument of a man who died there:

"If there is another world, he is in bliss;
If there is not, he made the most of this."

A photographer's gravestone is emblazoned with the following inscription:

"Taken from life by the instantaneous process."

The poor fellow had commited suicide.

In an old English cemetery is found the following epitaph:

"Here lies the body of Mr. Tollup,
When the Lord took his soul up
His body filled this hole up."

During the 60s there were united in marriage in Ohio a couple whose names were somewhat curious. The man's name was Ebenezer Sweet; the woman's, Jane Lemon. Some newspaper wag got up the following epigram for the occasion:

"Jane Lemon was married to Mr. Sweet,
Whose name is Ebenezer.
From sour she was turned to sweet,
And he became a lemon-squeezer."

"I would not live alway," he sang
The notes he loved to frame;
But he wore a chest-protector and
His gum shoes just the same.

RANDOM REMARKS.

Thoughts on Various Topics by a Casual Observer.

So long as the income tax can be effectively opposed never mind about the motive, says the Brooklyn Eagle.

It is said that this Spring's costumes have a quakerish tinge in which considerable periwinkle blue comes in.

To dock from the pay of the Representative as much of his salary as he does not earn would be to leave him in a bad fix for his board bill in very many cases.

The strike of the coke miners having failed, they want their old jobs. Sunday afternoon was the day hit upon for passing resolutions in favor of remaining at work. At Lemont part of the strikers decided to go to work

As a result of the ceasing of work in the coal mines it is now intimated that there may a coal famine in the face of the fact that in a few months with steady work our miners can easily turn out a year's supply of coal.

Notwithstanding his professed reformation, the celebrated Abe Buzzard was recently arrested in Reading, charged with being a participant in the robbery of the Cedar Lane postoffice. Character will tell in spite of profession.

Considering that they neither marry nor are given in marriage, the recent shooting of Mary Gilmartin by a jealous Catholic priest in Cincinnati, illustrates the impossibility of even the priesthood living above inherent human passions.

If there were no pious emotions in man's natural make up, that is, no feeling, and nothing to guide and direct him but his own philosophic thought, then professing Christians would be as scarce as Ingersolls and Ingersolls would be as numerous as Methodists.

Only three out of twenty seven State leaders indorse Senator Hill's views. All but three censure him in strong terms for his desertion of the Democratic party. One of the three upholding him in his tariff views chided him for his opposition to the income-tax.

Of the 1,070 new applications for license to sell intoxicants in Philadelphia only 45 were granted, and eleven of whom agreed not to establish a bar. There are in the city 1,661 retail licenses granted, with as many more seeking to enter the thriving industry. Thus protection protects.

With millions tied up and hoarded in banks and elsewhere the American patriot who will trot out and air himself as usual on the approaching 4th of July, prefers to still hoard his capital for political effect in the face of labor unemployed. This we believe to be very largely the case from Maine to California.

We presume Carnegie to have sufficient justification among high protectionists, even if low protectionist are disposed to find fault with the quality of his iron plates for war vessels. A defective war-ship is like a defective pair of boots, the sooner they are worn out the sooner another pair will be needed.

Though the people of Europe last year consumed 514,000,000 pounds of American bacon, 84,000,000 pounds of American hams and 81,000,000 pounds of American pork there are still a few hogs at home yet. This is a great country for hogs. While some are white, we have the red and even the black kind also.

Wanting a new trial the honorable Mr. Breckinridge says through counsel that the damages that he did are put excessively high; that the verdict is contrary to the evidence; and that the court erred in its charge to the jury on certain points of law; that the evidence is insufficient in law to sustain such a verdict, &c.

Rev. Dr. Talmages' sermon on the subject of "Home Religion," which he took from the 8th chapter and 39th verse of Luke, is indeed well worthy of perusal and study, both by the formal and informal christian. A spirit of pure religion and touching pathos permeates this sermon. No one can read it without feeling better for it.

Regarding the proposition to make Hon. E. B. Coxe the Democratic candidate for governor, which seems to have emanated from Washington, this gentleman in person says: "You can say for me that I am not directly or indirectly a candidate for governor, nor for anything else. I have as much as I can do to attend to my private business.

Now report comes that the chairman of the Congressional Committee in Colonel Breckinridge's district is an anti-Breckinridge man. Since coming events sometimes cast their shadows before we apprehend that the aunties of his district are laying a plan for the colonel's defeat. In matters such as the colonel has lately been interested in the aunties are apt to take lively interest for or against a fellow.

So much is said of our Presidents right along, for better or for worse, that any school child could tell you at once who he is; but on the other hand so little is said of the man who would fill his place in case of death, the Vice-President, that about every other man you may choose to ask the name of the Vice-President of the United States wants a little time to think, if indeed he can answer correctly when you give him time.

A safe field for bachelors is in the city of Mongolia which lies close to the borders of Russian Siberia. Its a little chilly there, but of course this fact makes no difference to bachelors. Maiwatchin is the euphonious name of this delectable spot that is peopled only by men. The Chinese women of the vicinity are forbidden to pass the wall of Kalkan or enter into Mongolia. As to who does the cooking, washing, &c., our informant sayeth not.

Just as electric car lines are now competing with large and powerful railroads that once had monopoly of passenger and freight traffic, so we find small telegraphic lines are now being built in different parts of the State, which in time may prove quite a rival to the Western Uuion Telegraph Company. If they are built for the purpose of competition they will compete to the general advantage of the public; but if they are built only to sell to the highest bidder, we can pretty near guess who will buy them out.

The next thing on program before Congress that is likely to consume as much time as did the debate on the tariff bill is the reading of the whole bill by paragraphs for amendment. This slow work was to commence at 1 o'clock on the 25th ult.; but it is difficult, indeed, to say when it will be finished, as objection will likely be interposed by manufacturers, at every step, through hired Representatives who are engaged to watch individual interests upon which there is a high protective tariff.

Coal-dealers are beginning to rather anticipate a coal famine as the result of idle mines. The relations between capital and labor are too close for the one to be seriously affected and not the other. Capital without labor is a useless responsibility and labor without capital is worse than useless, it is disastrous, both to the employer and the employed. Capital, being always organized for self-defense and labor claiming the same right, is what causes reductions of wages upon the one hand and demand for better share of profits that labor earns upon the other.

Hiram S. Maxim now says that aerial navigation is a certainty of the immediate future whether he succeeds in demonstrating the fact or whether some one else demonstrates it. He rather expects himself, no doubt, to demonstrate it to the satisfaction of the most skeptical, and to the utter dismay of our railroads which are still largely monopolizing passenger and freight traffic on terra firma, and growing from one degree of fabulous wealth to an insolent demand for the earth. We have often dreamed that the Almighty would head off our railroaders yet in some way, and it is possible that Mr. Maxim's scientific idea is heaven-born for this purpose.

WOMEN AT THE POLLS.

Newburg, N. Y., April 28.—The first taxpayers' election at which women were permitted to vote was held here to day and was the liveliest ever known. The question was whether or not $50,000 should be spent for a city hall. One lady who came to vote found that the assessors had left her name off the roll. "That's only one vote lost," she said, "but I'll make up for it." She went away and brought six other ladies back to the polls, all of whom voted as she would have done.

Although it rained most of the day the vote was very large for such an election. At one time there were 23 ladies in line, awaiting their turn to vote, and one brought in her own carriage 40 of her sex to the polls.

They polled about 230 of the 854 votes that were cast, and it is estimated that at least 90 per cent. of the women voted ballots against the project. Many of them came in their own carriages and comprised the best people of the city.

His Head Was Cut Off.

A horrible railroad accident took place at the Water Gap to-day, John Golden, a freight brakeman, had his head completely cut off.

The man lost his hat while riding past the place last night. In passing the spot to-day he saw his hat laying between the rails. As the train neared the spot Golden jumped off and reached between the rails for his hat. He was not quick enough, however, for the moving train caught him just as he was pulling his head back and pinning his neck down to the rail cut his head off.

The car was thrown off the track by the occurrence. The body of the unfortunate man was hurled one way and the head another.

ROMANISM IN ROME.

Thirty-one councils of the Junior Order of American Mechanics accepted an invitation of Rev. C. H. Woolston, pastor of the Kensington Baptist Church, Girard avenue and Hanover streets, yesterday, to hear him talk upon "Romanism as I Saw It in Rome." The societies came from all parts of the city and mustered some 1,300 or 1,400 strong. The church was entirely inadequate to hold them and about four hundred were unable to even gain admittance to the building.

The line formed at Girard and Frankford avenues early in the afternoon. Headed by the State Fencibles' Band the mechanics marched to the church, a few squares away. Clearfield Council headed the procession and John M. McCullough was marshal of the host.

At the church, beside the address of Dr. Woolston, there was an interesting musical programme. Mrs. A Erdmann sung splendidly the "Star Spangled Banner," while Miss Anna Peters gave, with stirring fervor, "Stand by the School House." It was the largest gathering the notheast ever saw on a Sunday afternoon, and the parade of the councils was viewed by hundreds of persons.

Mr. Woolston dealt with things as he had found them during his pilgrimage to Rome. He leveled the hottest kind of shot against what he declared was the evil work and tendency of the ancient Church of Rome "in its endeavor to lay hands on America which it would make as desolate as it has made Italy."

AN AMERICAN QUEEN

AND HER FOUR DAUGHTERS.

A Scene on the 8 O'clock Express Between Boston and Worcester, Mass.

(SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.)

It was a pretty sight.

The passengers turned around in their seats to better note the something unusual.

A noble looking woman had entered the car, followed by four daughters, ageing from fifteen to twenty years.

The mother had one of those good and wholesome faces that one so rarely sees, but that men and women always admire. The daughters had the same healthy, wholesome look. They were well born, well cared for, and, without doubt, never suffered from any of the ills that curse many women.

Mothers owe a duty to their daughters that in too many cases is neglected.

Nature has provided a time for purification, and if the channels are obstructed, the entire system is poisoned and misery comes.

Mrs. Chas. Hines of Duncannon, Pa., a woman of large experience, in speaking of a mother's duty, says: "Watch carefully your daughters' physical development.

"Mothers should see that nature is assisted, if necessary, to perform its office, and keep their daughters well informed as to matters concerning themselves."

Irregularities, from whatever cause, are sure indications of organic trouble. With irregularities come disturbance of the stomach and kidneys.

Violent headaches often attack the victim, pains shoot everywhere. Extreme irritability follows quickly, and then utter despondency overwhelms the already overburdened life. Unless the obstruction is removed at once, your daughter's whole future will be darkened.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will accomplish the work speedily. It is the most effective remedy for irregular or suspended action known.

The New York Times says "the income tax is a transitory Populist fancy that will not continue in force three years." If the Republican party comes into power we must agree with with the Times. But if asked why the Republican party was so tremendously defeated when in full sympathy with no income tax and no tariff reform, we should be obliged to answer Cleveland promised, both to the tired sovereign power, and that's why he won.

SERVICE PENSION.

Senator Turpie recently introduced a service-pension bill which provides, in addition to all invalid pensions which have been or may be granted, for all men who served in the army or navy during the war, a service pension at the rate of one cent for each day's service rendered; provided that every such pensioner who is rated at less than $8 per month shall be increased to $8 upon his reaching the age of 60 years, and $12 per month if unable to perform manual labor. Had the Republican party passed some such bill as this at the close of the war they would not only have saved millions of dollars that have been paid out to claim agents, and doctors and others than the soldiers proper, but they would have placed every soldier under special obligations to them. In their great anxiety however to place all man kind under obligations to them, they have lost forever just about one half the soldier vote. Talk as they like about Democratic treatment of pensioners, it takes at least two political parties to meet out exact justice to those who took a hand in saving this country during the war and since the war. Even in the hour of peace there is more or less war over the inequities and iniquities engendered by political strife and man's natural greed. And we hold that the party that is freest from inequity and inequity is the one most worthy of survival, and its most apt to succeed in God's providence, even in spite of politicians. If this stand is not partisan we still maintain it is patriotic to advocate with Darwin the survival of the fittest. As for a service-pension, no one but a soldier can get it, and he alone deserves it, in our opinion.

PRESIDENTIAL PROPHESY.

In casting about for Presidential timber it is a little strange that Republicans should first hit upon the objecting and objectionable material that was once condemned, or rather rejected, by the American people after trial, in the person of ex President Harrison. His refusal to accept the proposition thus early is quite as rational as were the modest remarks of the æsthetic Chauncey Depew, who allowed that the candidate who now accepts will want breath before the nominating convention assembles. There is nothing like reserving one's best wind for the homestretch in the mad Presidential race. If Chauncey Depew, a Republican, and Senator Hill a Democrat, should conspire and combine to win the coveted Presidential prize, there is no doubt they could influence more wealth than any two men in America If like Greeley, Hill should step over to the enemy for the sake of preferment (and he would not have far to step) the Republican party would have in this pair of twin plutocratic representatives a strong ticket, the like of which could not be found from Maine to California, so far as money and its influence goes. But, in the language of Shakespeare, "there is a destiny that shapes our ends, rough hew it how we may," and we are a little apprehensive that neither Hill nor Depew will make it, whatever may fall to the lot of Harrison.

It is now thought the tariff bill will reach final passage by June 10. So it ought.

BUSINESS.

It is just as well, perhaps, that farmers, whether rich or poor, manifest no disposition to corner their products against the consumer. It is just as well, no doubt, that they have no disposition to cease work for commercial or political effect, as other industries do so frequently. It is for the best, likely, that farmers are not combined as a class like corporations and labor unions for self-defense in the general push and scramble for money making that particularly characterizes corporate wealth. And yet the writer has often wondered at it Wondered that some determined effort has not been made to have as faithful representation in our halls of legislation as our protected manufacturing industries have right along and very carefully guarded. We have often wondered that, for the sake of home and fireside (long since mortgaged beyond redemption in many cases) something has not been done by the farmers except to toil and sweat and be forever hoodwinked by middle men and deceitful politicians. If the farmer presumes to go to town and sell his own products he is very apt to be obliged to pay toll at some gate in the hands of a corporation that is granted the exclusive privilege to take a little care of the highway and tax everybody toll that travels it. He next finds that high protection in the interest of a few smart men owning a market house in town stares him in the face, requiring him to take out a high license or quit selling, except to them, and at their rates. Instead of permitting middle men to dictate to the farmer, we should like to see him able himself to reap what profit can be properly gained on his products, and when a huckster, for instance, says I will pay but 12 cts. a dozen for eggs next week, and 20 cts. for your butter, I hope the Lord will in some way yet enable the farmer to tell that huckster he need not call for his products at any such rates, as they will never enable him to pay current taxes, much less raise a mortgage one half the value of the farm and which is quite likely to foreclose upon him at any time. We know the farmer is not entirely free from blame for his present utter helplessness. He should realize that he is in the care of those who live by their wits, as they call it.

COMMERCIAL.

Dun's Commercial Agency gives hopeful signs of business improvement, notwithstanding the deplorable condition which we believe to be attributable to over production, individual and national indebtedness, and the prolonged strikes of capitol and labor. The selfish motive that impels capital to strike by closing their works in order to intimidate tariff reformers, or to forestall anticipated legislation, is the same selfish motive that actuates labor to strike themselves out of employment in dull times in the hope either of bettering present conditions or avoiding threatened reductions. In some cases higher rates are sought and strikes ensue in consequence. In other cases strikes have resulted from deliberate provocation on the part of capital. Capital knows full well when to provoke a strike among its employees, as also when to court peace for sake of higher dividends. If business prosperity is dependent upon favorable legislation, then not only manufacturers should receive favorable consideration, but the farmer should also be given an occasional boost at the hands of our lawmakers who seem to be dead in love with our manufacturers some how.

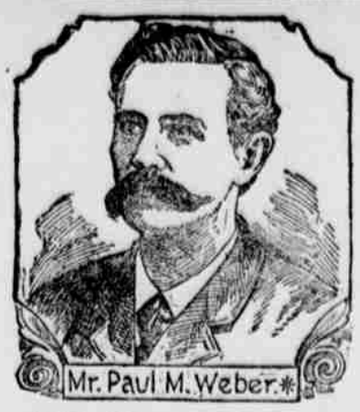

AN EDITOR FOR OFFICE.

Once in awhile a nomination for office falls to the lot of the editor, but twice in awhile they go some other way. One of the exceptional cases to which we refer is the proposition now on paper to nominate the editor of the Shickshinny Democrat for clerk of the courts of Luzerne County. Being a voter within his district we should be pleased to go home and cast our vote in that direction, in case the newspaper fraternity is thus recognized for representation through Deemer Beidleman, the editor referred to. We believe in the first place that the fraternity deserves recognition for the fun it has in advocating the cause of others, and in the second place that Mr. Beidleman will fill the position satisfactorily if elected

HUNGRY HUNGARIANS.

Hungarians (imported under the free trade privileges granted out corporate powers when they want to keep the American laborer where he belongs) are now leaving our shores for their native homes because of the closing of furnaces, &c. This we regard as an alarming condition of things, and capital ought to see to the stopping of the out flow of Hungarians; for when work resumes it may have a deleterious influence on wages demanded by Americans for Americans, who can tell? Arrest the Hungarians by all means.

The Governor of Michigan has appointed John D. Patten to succeed Senator Stockbridge. As usual, Mr. Patten is a lawyer. We are getting quite a few of them in Congress through death and otherwise.

We advise the readers of this paper to remember his suggestion.

The Plain Speaker of Hazleton, recently sold out by the Sheriff, may have met this fate by speaking too plainly. We have found from experience that it is possible to speak too plainly in print sometimes, and that there is a whole mint in the Biblical advice "be wise as serpents and meek as doves." And yet there is something humiliating about this attitude, considering the saying that "silence gives consent."

M. L. Kline, harness-maker and dealer in Trunks, Valises, &c., will hereafter be found on corner of Iron and Main Streets, where Lockard used to keep store. ON THE CARDS.

His Knowledge of the Game Was Too Limited for His Friend.

Two young fellows walked up Main street last Saturday night. They had been talking about skill at games of cards. One of them allowed that he could play any game of which the late Mr. Hoyle was cognizant. The other was equally sure of his mastery of the pasteboards.

"I will play you any game you choose for money, marbles or chalk," said the tall one.

"What'll we play?" asked the tall one.

"Well, we'll go up here and play a game of pedro."

"No, I ain't very good at pedro."

"Let's have a game of casino, then."

"I never did like that game."

"I'll play you poker."

"That's a game I never play."

"Pinocle?"

"The counting is too much bother."

"Crib-age?"

"Don't know that game."

"Hearts?"

"Hearts is no good."

By this time the short one was disgusted. He stopped and said:

"Well, you chump, what will you play after all your bluffing?"

The tall one hesitated for a minute. Then he said:

"I will match pennies with you."—Buffalo Express.

The Desperado Simmered.

"It seems to me," said an old cattleman recently, "that Bat Masterson has a reputation for bravery when possessed of a six-shooter that is not wholly deserved. One instance of which I was an eye-witness I will relate. Masterson's younger brother engaged in a fight with a cowpuncher named Jack Sayers in Trinidad, Col., and beat Sayers over the head with his gun, Sayers being unarmed. As soon as Sayers could get a six-shooter he returned and nearly beat Masterson to death with it. Then, fearing the vengeance of Bat, he jumped on his horse and left town. When Bat heard of the trouble he immediately went in search of Sayers, and not with a pair of opera glasses, either. Not finding his man, he declared vengeance against Sayer's friends, and was parading up and down the street with a six-shooter in his hand. No one seemed disposed to dispute his right to the town until Bill Cook, who is now marshal of Clayton, N. M., came up and surveyed the scene. Cook asked where the Trinidad police were, and was informed none of them wanted the job of arresting Bat. Some one suggested that Bill take Bat's gun away from him. Bill said he had no authority in Trinidad, but for the sake of old times would try hima whirl. Walking up to Bat, he caught him by the shoulder, and as he whirled around jerked his gun out of his hand, at the same time telling him he didn't allow any 'one' man to run that town. Bill warned Bat to simmer down or they would mix. Bat took the advice and left town on the evening train."—Kansas City Times.

Married His Doctor.

It seemed that a family in Cincinnati is considerably annoyed that a young member of it has very suddenly married a female physician in Savannah, Ga.

The gentleman in question had gone to that city for his health, and, finding the services of a physician necessary, called in a lady. In a few days they were married.

His family proposes to introduce divorce proceedings at once on the ground that she exercised undue influence over him.

The case suggests some very unpleasant possibilities. If a female physician, under pretense of curing a disease, can visit a male patient and compel him to marry her, what safety remains for the timid and shrinking bachelor?

The average non-professional woman is dangerous enough to the masculine heart, but when she comes clothed with the occult powers here alleged, what is a poor fellow to do?

There is nothing for it but to marry out of hand.—Philadelphia Press.

What Ailed the Girl.

A flashy young man, wearing a loud checked suit and a pair of yellow shoes, stood outside a fashionable West End restaurant one evening recently.

"I think," he said, "that she's one of the prettiest young girls I ever saw. And she's so smart, and all that. She swims and rides and plays billiards and poker, and dances beautifully. I tell you, she's fin de sizzle."

"What's that?" asked one of his friends.

The flashy young man hesitated for a moment. "She's fin de sizzle," I said.

"You mean fin de sozzle, don't you?" asked one of his friends.

"Yes," said the flashy young man, evidently much relieved. "Fin de sozzle, that's it. I thought fin de sizzle didn't sound right all the time."—Boston Home Journal.

The Late Judge Lamar.

On one occasion he was taken to task by a lady at Bar Harbor who thought he did not recognize her. "Ah, Judge," she said, "I am afraid you don't remember me; I met you here two years ago." "Remember you, madam!" was his quick reply, with one of his courtly bows; "why, I've been trying ever since to forget you." And she laughingly exclaimed, "Oh, go away, you dear, delightful old Southern humbug!"—Harper's Weekly.

Sure Thing.

Peddler—Want to buy some cockroach poison?

Woman—Thought I wouldn't remember you, didn't you? I bought some of your truck two weeks ago, and the bugs got fat on it.

Peddler—Yes'm. That's the way it works. They die of fatty degeneration of the heart.—Indianapolis Journal.

A Reason.

Higgins—There comes Baggs. I don't care to meet that fellaw. I asked him to lend me ten dollars one day last spring.

Huggins—He ought to have let you have it; he's rich.

Higgins—Well, you see, he did.—Life.

Would Not Need It.

He (hesitatingly)—I can't reform without help. I need some guiding star.

She (curtly)—You wouldn't if you were not out so much at night.—Vogue.

MEMORY MANTELS.

German Favors, Dance Programmes and Menu Cards Appropriate Decorations.

What have the girls done with the german favors, dance programmes, menu cards and other souvenirs of last season's outing at seashore, lake side and mountain resort?

The agency here concerning these trophies is from a wideawake Southern belle, and provides far better use for the mementos of a season's triumphs than the careless tucking away in boxes and out-of-the-way nooks.

This Southern belle put together a german favor mantel in her own private snuggery at a summer resort, and those who saw it began at once to treasure up like baubles until the homeward flitting, when they were to be brought out and assigned a decorative part.

This memory mantel alluded to blossomed with Old Point Comfort and White Sulphur Springs trophies. The drapery which furnished the background for the odd assortment was of snowflake Swiss, through which the palest of water-green silk gleamed and glistened.

The drapery arrangement was exceedingly simple, being almost foldless in order to show to the best advantage the knick-knacks.

The silk-lined swiss was simply stretched from corner to corner above the white enamelled mantel, and caught in the centre with two of the german favors—tiny bolting cloth parasols, gauzy as a dragon's wing, and flecked with beach jewels in the form of Old Point moonstones.

Each corner was a-flutter with gayly tinted ribbons tipped with silver bells. Fantastic clown heads, satin slippers, ivory wishbones, silver horseshoes, sweetmeat baskets, jockey caps and whips, banjos, mandolins and violins in miniature, along with a dozen other fancies, dotted the crisp white drapery.

Around even the tiniest of these favors hovered pleasant memories of past gayeties, and more than one bit of sentiment was interwoven with the novel jumble.

This was purely a german favor mantel. But the notion could be carried out in half a dozen different directions. A "lucky" girl, one of those always stumbling over curiosities, like Mrs. Whitney's "Leslie Goldwaite," and which she wishes to handle in an original manner, can build herself a marine mantel.

There would be the lovely seaweeds which she has brought home, in off-tones of green and brown for festooned corners; and pink-lined bits of shell work to stud the drapery.

A vacation among the hills has yielded to more than one girl's very delightful possibilities for such a mantel.

Somebody in an idle hour has carved her a birch bark canoe; some one else brought an offering of lichens and other forest treasure—baby pine cones, big cones and birds' nests, and if she has a spice of barbarity in her nature she has even treasured up the rattlesnake's skin as a startling eye-opener.

The memory mantels offer pleasant employment for a stormy winter day in disposing of the pretty souvenirs to one's boxes and drawers; and the odd decorative piece will furnish many a merry little dish of gossip for the feminine spirits who have the entree to the favorite den.

FASHION NOTES.

The new flannelettes show a great variety of checks and stripes. These are nice for children's dresses.

It is now an absolutely settled fact that for a hostess to wear at her own afternoon receptions full ball dress is very bad form.

In white goods, dotted crepe will have a large share of attention this spring. The dainty dots give a charm that is irresistible.

A great many of the dress skirts show an under and contrasting skirt at the hem. Without doubt we are going to wear upper and under skirts.

The leading dressmakers agree that the greatest change in woman's dress during the coming spring will be in the direction of double skirts, looped or plain.

An English writer states that the reign of the "bud" is ended, and that in a year or two nothing less than the age of thirty may expect to win admiration.

Colored stones are in the ascendency with a vengeance. Among them amethysts are predominant, especially for wire bangles with hearts and other devices.

Among the fine wool goods for spring and summer wear are those of canvas or basket weaving, with tiny dots of mohair of the same color in the basket squares. These are for traveling dresses and for general wear.

"Avoid black; dress objectively, not subjectively," says a modern clothes philosopher. This advice comes at a poor time, just when the dressmakers are asserting that it will be "a black spring," and the shop windows are filling up with black and white silk waists.

The American Woman is Growing.

The average of the measures taken at the big dressmaking shops shows pretty well the development of the American woman. If these figures are to be believed the American woman is constantly getting bigger. A few years ago the average skirt length was forty-two inches, and that was the length used for all model gowns sent over here from Paris. Now, however, the model length is forty-five, while the increase in other measurements is proportionate. While the middle-aged women show an inclination to grow broader across the hips and shoulders and through the arms, frequently cultivating disfiguring corporations through indolent and indulgent habits of life, the college graduate, the university woman and the debutante grow more like the English lady every year. Not only is she from two to four inches longer from the waist down, but her waist is getting longer, her chest fuller and her limbs narrower. She is supple, agile and compact and light and graceful of movement. This long waist, long skirt and athletic beauty are due to physical exercise, particularly tennis playing. To quote an observer who has considerable to do with the dressing of the new generation, the woman of the period has jumped herself into good condition and cold baths have kept her so.—Montgomery (Ala.) Advertiser

SCIENCE IN AGRICULTURE.

Sucess is Due Wholly to Knowledge of the Law of Nature.

Prof. I. P. Roberts, director of the College of Agriculture and the experiment station at Cornell University, writes as follows regarding progress in agriculture:

"The energy expended in the operations of the farm to be at all effective must be carried on agreeably with the laws which govern tillage and the growth of plants and animals. Many of these laws are now known; some are concisely and systematically arranged, forming a true science; and some of them are capable of such definite application that they may be classed among the exact sciences. The production of butter from milk has been reduced to a science almost as exact as has the determination of solids in milk by chemical analysis. Within the last quarter of a century the wall which divided science from practice has been broken down, though not entirely obliterated. So long as agriculture was considered and practiced as an art little permanent progress was made, but wherever and whenever it has been studied as both a science and an art advancement has been rapid and permanent. Nearly all the improvements in agriculture which have been made in the last century have been due to the discovery and application of laws before unknown or unapplied, rather than to improvements in the mere art of farming. Bakewell, in 1785, discovered and applied the primary laws which govern the art of improving domestic animals. Anciently the breeding of animals was practiced as an art alone; hence little improvement was made."

Regarding rotation Prof. Roberts says: "Rotation of crops may be defined to be the arrangement of a certain regular succession of plants of a different species with a view to economize the fertility of the land, prevent the growth of certain species of weeds, economize labor, and to distribute it, so far as possible through the entire year. It is a well-known fact that some crops require that their food shall be abundant and readily soluble, while others are able to thrive well on nourishment drawn from less tractable substances. This is supposed to be due to the greater power of the roots in some species to excrete some solvents which assist in setting plant food free. The difference in amounts of inorganic matter abstracted from the soil by different species of cultivated plants is so small that no account is taken of them in fixing upon any given rotation. There are four conditions—climate, soil, local position and economy of labor—which should be observed in fixing upon any given rotation. A common rotation is two years of grass or clover, one of corn, one of oats or barley, and one of wheat. When wheat and potatoes both thrive, a three-years' rotation—clover, potatoes and wheat—is often adopted. The exudations of the roots of plants do not, as was formerly supposed, poison the soil. . . . Save in exceptional cases, a rotation should be planned so as to secure the largest net returns, which maintaining, or even increasing, the productive power of the land."

Early Lambs.

In many localities an early lamb will sell for more money than will the ewe and her fleece; therefore, where there is a market for early lambs the breeding of these is a very profitable business, if the persin who attempts it is provided with ample shelter and understands the management of both ewes and lambs.,

Lambs for early market are bred so as to be dropped in February and March. February is a hard month to bring them through, and without judicious treatment and warm shelter many lambs will be lost. The chief aim is to get the lambs ready for market as soon as possible, as it is the earliest arrivals that gain the highest prices. It is necessary to keep the dams in good condition with sufficient food to make plenty of nourishing milk. Experience and judgment are required in feeding the lambs; they must have food enough to promote rapid, healthy growth, and yet of a character that will not produce scouring. While the lambs are still with the ewes, it is well to supply them additional food. They can soon be taught to drink milk which is fresh and warm from the cow. Later on, oats, rye and wheat bran, finely ground together make an excellent feed. As a gentle laxative a few ounces of linseed oil cake will be found beneficial and at the same time nourishing.

As the lambs approach the period for weaning extra food should be increased; indeed, the weaning must be very gradually accomplished. The sudden removal of the lambs from their dam is injurious to both. A plan generally followed to avoid the evil effects of a sudden change, is that of removing the lambs to a good pasture of short, tender grass, and at night returning them to the fold with the ewes. The ewes must not be neglected. Their feed should be gradually diminished so as to diminish the yield of milk.

Sores on Cattle.

There are many sores on cattle, which if kept constantly washed clean with cold water and kept free from dirt, would heal of themselves. A very careful herdsman says his practice of curing hoof-rot is to thoroughly cleanse the affected parts with warm water and soap; and then apply warm tar between the hoofs. In very bad cases there will be a large core to come out; remove it carefully with the thumb and finger, cleanse the cavity as above with soap and water, and then fill it with warm tar. Keep the parts thoroughly covered with tar, even if it is necessary to use a bandage. Keep the animal in a clean, dry pasture. It is no more liable to affect the whole system than any other ulcer. When once cured there is no danger of its appearing again unless from the same cause.

How Nests Should be Made.

Eggs hatch much beter if the nests are made by placing a cut turf, and a shovel of mold, sand or ashes in the box or basket, and on this a little short straw, than if straw only is used. In this way a convenient hollow is obtained that prevents the eggs rolling out from under the setting hen. In cool weather the eggs are thus kept of a much more equable temperature than in nests made simply of loose straw.

THE PASTILLE CURE FOR NERVOUS DEBILITY TRADE MARK

Prof. HARRIS' SOLUBLE MEDICATED Pastille

Has been put up in a proprietary form since 1878, and has been used for years prior to that time in private practice. It is no untried nostrum, of doubtful reputation, but a genuine specific for a very prevalent disease. Thousands of men, of all ages, have at some time in life brought on nervous debility and exhaustion, with organic weakness, by over brain work, excesses, too frequent indulgence or indiscretion and vicious habits, and it is to these that we offer a remedy that will, by its direct action upon the seat of the disease, stop the drain and restore the patient to vigorous health and strength.

Our method of introducing

treatment is one which commends itself to all sensible persons—for the reason that we supply it upon their judgment of its value. We ask of our patrons nothing in the way of expense beyond a postal card and a two cent postage stamp. The postal card to be used in sending us their full address and the postage stamp for the letter returning the statement of their case for which we supply them with a question blank, to be filled out, and an envelope addressed to ourselves for use in returning it when filled.

FREE TRIAL PACKAGE. When we receive the statement on blank we prepare eight days' treatment and forward it by mail and prepay postage thereon—and along with the eight days' treatment we send full directions for using. The treatment in no way interferes with a person's attention to business, and causes no pain or inconvenience in any way.

We are so positive that it will give perfect satisfaction that we leave the matter of sending orders entirely with those using the free trial treatment. Having satisfied those sending for trial packages of our ability to benefit their sexual condition we feel that they are more largely interested than ourselves in continuing the use of the Pastilles. Even then we do not attempt to rob them by demanding high prices. On the contrary, we make the prices as low as possible, and the same to all. They are as follows: $3.00 for one month; $5.00 for two months; $7.00 for three months.

Trade Mark. SHAPE & SIZE OF A GENUINE PASTILLE

These prices secure the delivery of the Pastilles by mail. If desired by express we leave the patient to pay the charges. For over ten years we have operated our business upon this plan with satisfactory results.

We ask all persons needing treatment for any of the secret ills which come to mankind through a violation of nature's laws to send us their address on postal card or by letter and allow us to convince them that PROF. HARRIS' SOLUBLE MEDICATED PASTILLES have merit and are what they need.

Philadelphia's Maids and Music.

The residents of the neighborhood of Eighth and Buttonwood streets are divided into two bitter factions whose apple of discord is the music furnished by hand organs and other street performers.

The trouble came about in this wise: Miss Anna M. Warne, an eccentric spinster, lives alone, except for the companionship of a blink eyed tabby cat, at 717 Buttonwood street. She is wealthy and charitably inclined, and when, about four months ago, she read in the newspapers that the poor were in great distress, she determined to assist in her own way.

The people that she determined to favor were street musicians in general, and hand organ players in particular. Accordingly, the efforts of the first one of the latter class that put in an appearance she rewarded with a quarter of a dollar. This unexpected munificence so tickled the musician that he played ten minutes longer, and departed to tell his friends of the new "angel." That afternoon five men put in an appearance, and were likewise generously rewarded.

The next day more came, until finally within a week it seemed to the other residents thereabout that for no five minutes during the day was the tired atmosphere relieved of its burden of melody, and music began to be decidedly cloying.

Finally came a day when patience ceased to be a virtue. The organ grinders began to gather early, and at 8 o'clock sharp poor little back numbered "Annie Rooney" was turned loose with a multiplicity of variations. The serenader was rewarded with fifty cents, and played until he had gone over his entire repertoire three times. No sooner did he stop than there was a race between squads of rival players stationed at the corners, as to which should receive the coveted place. That day twenty-two harbingers of spring turned their respective cranks to the tune of fifty cents each.

COULDN'T DRIVE THEM AWAY.

The next morning William B. Raybold, who lives at 724 Buttonwood street, called on the musically inclined lady, and explaining to her in all seriousness that he had a wife almost at death's door, and requested that she discontinue her unheard of beneficence.

Miss Warne declined to stop her charitable work. Then Mr. Raybold determined on making a personal appeal to the musicians, all of whose faces were by that time familiar to him, so he stayed home and accosted them with a plea to move on after playing two or three tunes. When the sixteenth informed him in broken English that he was in duty bound to give the lady her money's worth Raybold fled in despair.

The next one that came Miss Harris, who lives in Mr. Raybold's house and is a very little woman, rushed at with such a look of determination in her eyes that he fled ingloriously. She dispersed the succeeding four in the same manner, but the one after that played on unconcernedly and Miss Harris retired.

The following day Miss Warne, thinking the interference unwarranted, increased her donations to $1. The other residents of the neighborhood, conscious of an unusual stir, made inquiries, and, finding the state of affairs, divided into factions, "organites" and "anti organites." Then the trouble began to brew. Miss Warne enlarged her liberality, so that the record for continuous playing by a one man power organ was broken several times in quick succession.

HIS PRISONERS RESCUED.

J. M. Roberts, who boards with Mrs. Klecknar at 732 Buttonwood street, in desperation one day, rushed out, and grabbing two of the offending organists, sent for a policeman. There was a hurried rally on the part of the "organites," and amid much hooting and cheering the mob rescued the prisoners.

Then again, more recently, when a wandering minstrel came along with a big drum on his back, a harmonica in his mouth, an accordion in his hands and various other instruments strung around his person, and as he made a noise two women, somewhat inebriated, got in the centre of the crowd and danced a can can.

The next morning Mr. Roberts got the "antis" to sign a petition to the police asking for protection against too much street melody. The physician of Miss Klecknar, daughter of Mrs. Roberts' landlady, certified that her health was endangered by the incessant noise, and Mrs. Raybold's doctor said that her recovery was seriously retarded through the same cause. All these documents were then taken to Lieutenant Smith, of the Eighth district, by a delegation of nervous citizens, who pleaded for help. The lieutenant ordered two special policemen to guard the neighborhood and warn every musician to move on. In case they refused they were to be arrested. The first few of the offenders were taken to the station house, but allowed to go upon promise to play no more around Eighth and Buttonwood streets.

Instantly the "organites" flew to arms, and counter petitions and counter-delegations poured in on the helpless lieutenant. As yet, however, the "antis" have the victory, and the grinders, harpists and horn blowers only put in an appearance when their friends tip them the wink that there is no policeman in sight. Last night the organ faction sent another delegation, headed by a Mr. Pelt, to the lieutenant, but the mandate was not rescinded.—Philadelphia Times.

AN EXPERIENCE ALOFT.

JAKE HAS A TUSSLE WITH A POLAR BEAR IN THE RIGGING.

From the San Francisco Item.

There is an old sailor named Jake, recently returned to San Francisco from an Arctic cruise, who has made up his mind not to go on another whaling expedition, no matter what happens. The reason is this:

On one occasion during his late voyage Jake was on watch in the night—that is, as much night as it ever gets up there in summer. The sun had been down about an hour, and would rise again about an hour later. It was a beautiful night, as the ship lay there in the ice, and the air seemed scintillating with a phosphorescent glow that penetrated everywhere and made no shadows. On all sides the ice lay close to the vessel and reached for miles in every direction, broken occasionally by a large berg or the faint out lines of another ship. The silence was profound; it seemed to produce a roaring sound like the waves of a distant ocean. Such surroundings will put a person in a semi comatose state, from which the slightest sound will awaken him with a start.

Jake suddenly saw something white in the gloom climbing the mast. His first impulse was to jump to the deck, but before he could act upon it the white object crawled through the lubber hole, and Jake then saw that it was a polar bear. Jake realized that he was in a most dangerous position, and began to think of means of escape. He called to the watch on deck below, but they couldn't hear. He tried to get out under the canvas, but the beast grabbed him and pulled him back. It began thumping him, and every time Jake attempted to move away it would growl. Suddenly his eyes lighted on a rope hanging to the deck just back of the cradle. By this means he thought he could reach the deck. To swing himself free was but the work of an instant, but the bear made a jump and caught hold of his foot. But a few vigorous kicks freed him, and then began a new terror. Perhaps the rope was not strong and would break, or he might miss the stay and swing against the mast and be dashed to death. The moment in the air seemed years filled with horror, and several times Jake wished he had taken his chance with the bear. To grab the stay and hold on was the most difficult, and twice Jake's hands slipped and almost lost it.

When he reached the deck he looked up and saw the rope swing back to the cradle, when the bear grabbed it. It tried to do as it had seen Jake do, but had no sooner swung clear than it slipped and fell to the deck. The crew had bearsteak for breakfast.

A Discarded Lover Prevents the Marriage to Another of the Girl He Loved.

Pittsburg, May 3.—Frank Meyer, an Italian fruit dealer, was sent to jail this afternoon for lying in wait at the house of the girl he loved on the day she was to have married Angelo Guiero, and threatening to stab her if she married his rival.

The latter won her affections and the day for the wedding was fixed. The groom waited in the church with his friends, but the bride came not. She and her friends tried to leave their home at 185 Beaver Avenue, Allegheny, but Meyer standing at the door with a stilleto, prevents their departure. He remained there all day and part of the night. With Meyer in jail the couple will now get married.

Our town was quite lively on Monday night. The great all-feature show of Wheeler Bros. they had a full house.

Harvey Gingles, from Bloomsburg, paid our town a visit on Sunday last.

Jack Mitchell and four of his wheel companions of Millville gave our town a short call on Sunday last.

John Welliver, of Buckhorn, (known as Spates) drove up on Tuesday for a load of shingles. He says the storm on Sunday unroofed some of his buildings.

A GOOD BUILDING UP of a run-down system can be accomplished by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. A long procession of diseases start from a torpid liver and impure blood. Take it, as you ought, when you feel the first symptoms (languor, loss of appetite, dullness, depression) and you'll save yourself from having something serious.

As an appetizing, restorative tonic, to repel disease and build up the needed flesh and strength, there's nothing to equal it. It rouses every organ into healthful action, purifies and enriches the blood, braces up the whole system, and restores health and vigor.

For every disease caused by a disordered liver or impure blood, it is the only guaranteed remedy.

If it doesn't benefit or cure, in every case, you have your money back.

ESPY.

Quite a number of our people took trips down the river to Bloomsburg on the steamer Columbia, on Sunday.

Boyd Patterson has moved back from Bloomsburg, and is working in the boat yard.

Wm. Pettit, who has been living at Mifflinville for some time, is back to Espy again.

The store building being erected by John Hidlay, is nearing completion.

Ellis Merrell of Bloomsburg, visited his grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Merrell, on Sunday.

Earl Hess is among the owners of new bicycles.

EAST BENTON.

The people of Cambra and vicinity enjoyed a rare treat last Saturday night in the exhibition closing the public school term. The Christian Chapel was filled with delighted listners. Applause burst forth at the close of every exercise. A "Drama of Three Acts" was exhibited to such perfection that the scene represented almost real experience. A motto, "Rowing not Drifting," was a song engaged in by the school children that reflects great credit to the school. But the crowning exercise was "Calisthenics," which set the audience almost wild with applause. A new piano was placed in this chapel on trial. From the sweetness of tone that flowed from that instrument, at the skillful hands of Prof. Stanley McHenry and Hattie Pealer, one would suppose that the instrument was one of the best. At the close of the recitation, "The Black Horse," which depicted the part taken by Benedict Arnold at the battle of Saratoga, Mrs. Hat Coss remarked that her grandfather Fellows was in the battle that was fought at Saratoga. Now that the Cambra public school attained such a degree of proficiency in every part of drill exhibited last Saturday night is as complimentary an advertisement for the youthful or boy teacher, who does not seem to be yet out of his teens, as could be given by all the newspapers of two counties. Prof. Walter Casterline is a Normal graduate.

Judge Krickbaum and wife called upon Isaac Drum, of Jonestown, last Sunday. Mrs. Krickbaum and Mr. Drum are cousins. The latter is becoming aged and feeble.

Samuel P. Krickbaum of this place who has been unwell for a long time is not improving in health. His condition however is not critical.

Quite a few have planted their corn. We have abandoned the advantages, or rather disadvantages, of early planting.

The gospel ministry are always eager and ready to "Tie Knots." But I have never known a case where one of them helped, or even offered to help to untie a "knot" they bound. They "tie the knot," so tight that it seems to take the court of quarter sessions to untie them.

The holy communion of the Lord's Supper was administered at Hamline last Sunday forenoon. Rev. King, of Benton, preached an interesting sermon on the occasion.

On Sunday evening and Monday morning the Presiding Elder, Rev. Yocum, preached at the same place, after which Quarterly Conference was held.

The eccentricities of men are marked by characteristics that distinguish them from all the rest of mankind; every turn of which shows a result that stamps them in the image of cranks.

A series of showers gave vegetation a new start. The shower on Sunday afternoon, as it was coming up, was marked by features indicating greater severity than it brought. A few small hail fell.

HIS HEAD GROUND OFF.

William Lowstutter, of Coal Centre, was killed in a runaway at Brownsville this afternoon. He and Ralph Charlton were driving on the National road when a lurch threw both out. Charlton fell clear and escaped injuries.

Lowstutter's foot caught over the axle, and he could not free it. The horse dashed away over the flinty pike, dragging him head downwards for more than a mile before the horse was caught. Lowstutter was lifted out dead, his head being literally ground off to the ears and his brains scattered along the highway. He was 26 years old, and leaves a wife and four children.—Phila. Times.

The Philadelphia Record suggest in connection with our large contribution to the World's Fair at Antwerp, what it chooses to call a contingent of handsome American girls, in order to heighten the attractions of the United States exhibit. That's right, send the girls to Antwerp, and throw in a few of our homely old maids as a fair sample of the other kind, just to show Antwerpians that we can take the cake either way.

T. F. Anthony, Ex-Postmaster of Promise City, Iowa, says: "I bought one bottle of 'Mystic Cure,' for Rheumatism and two doses of it did me more good than any medicine I ever took." Sold by C. A. Kleim, Druggist, Bloomsburg. 11-10-8m.

A Little Daughter

Of a Church of England minister cured of a distressing rash, by Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Mr. RICHARD BIRKS, the well-known Druggist, 207 McGill st., Montreal, P. Q., says:

I have sold Ayer's Family Medicines for 40 years, and have heard nothing but good said of them. I know of many performed by Ayer's Sarsaparilla, one in particular being that of a little daughter of a Church of England minister. The child was literally covered from head to foot with a red and exceedingly troublesome rash, from which she had suffered for two or three years, in spite of the best medical treatment available. Her father was in great distress about the case, and, at my recommendation, at last began to administer Ayer's Sarsaparilla, two bottles of which effected a complete cure, much to her relief and her father's delight. I am sure, were he here to-day, he would testify in the strongest terms as to the merits of

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

GIRL WHO IS A NEEDLE CUSHION.

Sharon, Pa., May 5.—A human needle cushion is Melinda Morford, a 16-year old girl, of this town. Melinda's home is on Madison avenue, and up to date the doctors have removed from her body about 700 needles and pieces of needles. How or when they got into her flesh is a mystery. It is believed, however, that the girl, while hysterical or laboring under delusions, has stuck the needles in her arms and legs. They have traversed her body, and when near the surface cause great pain. Then they are removed by the doctors. As many as 50, it is said, have been taken out at one time. Melinda denies that she put the needles in her body.

Christopher Columbus Jones is the happiest jolliest looking "wage-earner," so called, that we have yet seen among the work-escapers who are training with Coxey. Christopher wears a stove pipe hat and a benignant smile that puts him head and shoulders above Coxey, who looks as though he had been struck at and hit by somebody.

Rheumatism Cured in a Day.—"Mystic Cure" for Rheumatism and Neuralgia, radically cures in 1 to 3 days. Its action upon the system is remarkable and mysterious. It removes at once the cause and the disease immediately disappears. The first dose greatly benefits, 75 cts. Sold by C. A. Kleim, Druggist, Bloomsburg. 11-10-8m.

A Widow Surprises Mourners.

Plymouth, Pa., May 5.— A sensation was created here to-day in a most unexpected manner. Yesterday David Edwards, a citizen of the town, was run over by the cars and killed. Edwards' wife died about eight months ago. He has grown-up children, and they were about making arrangements for the funeral when Mrs. John Thomas, a widow, and the owner of the Plymouth Hotel, stepped in and said she would take charge of the remains of her husband. Consternation followed, and the children demanded an explanation. The widow then produced her marriage certificate. She and Edwards were married in Binghamton, N. Y., last February. The affair was kept secret from both families, and the two were never seen together in public.

Of course some ladies of large waists will distort their bodies with tight laced corsets for sake of style, so called, actually suffering in many ways from it. There is no legal remedy in such cases, where a sensible mother's advice fails. But we are glad to see that law is coming to the relief of that noble animal, the horse, forbidding the use of check-reins which 500 veterinary surgeons have lately condemned for pity sake and declaring them to be the cause of distorted windpipe, impeded respiration, paralysis of muscles, megrims, apoplexy, coma, and other diseases, besides being a great annoyance to a faithful and patient servant of man.

It is a burning shame with what indifference some folks will walk right along and trample down the very sign "Keep off the Grass." You may print it in double extra black 20-line nonpareil and still they fail to see it. That's what got Coxey into trouble, the first he met with at Washington, where getting on forbidden ground is an offense somewhat akin to horse-stealing in Texas. Coxey should have kept off the grass.
